PROFILE

A passionate and ambitious Full Stack web developer, I'm looking for a stimulating job in web development. With solid experience in creating complete web applications, frontend and backend, Although I haven't had the opportunity to gain professional experience in the web development field yet, I am incredibly eager to apply my knowledge and skills in a real-world work environment. I have invested significant time and effort into self-learning and personal projects to strengthen my abilities. Through these experiences, I have cultivated a solid foundation in web development principles and technologies. I am excited to contribute my enthusiasm, dedication, and fresh perspectives to a team, while also being receptive to mentorship and opportunities for growth to accelerate my professional development. I'm ready to contribute to a company's success by applying my technical skills and creativity.
